Annual Prohibition Daze Dance To Be Held During Semester Break

On Saturday, January 27, the Senior Class of Loyola College will sponsor the annual "Prohibition Daze" dance. This affair, a mid-semester tradition at Loyola, will be held in the Andrew White Student Center from nine until one. Music will be furnished by Jimmy Driscoll and his orchestra.

DAZED SENIORS: Dick Moore and the senior class officers study "Prohibition Daze" plans.

Barber Shop Opens Here January 29

When the students return from the semester holiday on Monday, January 29, they will find that something new has been added to the Loyola campus, a barber shop. An on-campus barber shop has been under consideration for the past few years, and finally this year a motion was passed by the Student Council for its establishment.

The Management Club, which sponsors the barber shop, has hired a professional barber, Mr. Griffith. For over twenty-five years, this man has been a barber. He also operates his own shop on weekends and nights. The shop will be located in what is presently the game room in the basement of the Student Union Building. Now, instead of the wild exciting sound of a violent ping-pong game, the metallic click of scissors will be heard issuing from this room in the basement.

Either a member of the student body or a member of the faculty may have his hair cut in this shop. It will open from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. every day Monday thru Friday. The price of a regular haircut will be one dollar. But a special identification card must be presented to the barber before he can perform his services. These ID cards will be issued to the entire student body and all of the faculty members.

Under the auspices of the Management Club and Charles Leight, chairman of the Sales committee, the barber will offer an "ROTC Special." Any cadet in uniform will receive a reduced price of fifty cents.

A "roaring twenties" theme will pervade the affair, as in past years.

Golden Era

Although costumes are not compulsory, students and their dates are encouraged to dress in the attire of that Golden Era. Prizes will be awarded to the wearers of the most appropriate and interesting costumes.

Extremely Popular

Because of its original theme and appropriate timing, right after semester examinations, this has always been a most popular dance among the students of Loyola.

Tickets cost $3.00 per couple, which is slightly lower than last year, and may be obtained from any senior class officer. Tickets will also be on sale at the door for $3.25. Proceeds from the dance will be used for Senior Day, the upper-classmen's annual day of frolic.

Elaborate Decorations

Decorations for the dance promise to be most elaborate. In keeping with the "roaring twenties" theme of the dance, the gymnasium will be transformed into a dimly lighted speakeasy.

Jimmy Driscoll's orchestra is noted for its high caliber performances and will attempt to blend variety with quality in its selections.

During intermission appropriate entertainment will be provided by Loyola students. This feature has always been a popular aspect of the dance.

Trip To Europe Available For Loyola Students

Mr. Norman J. Barrett of the Association of Independent Colleges, Inc. announces to the faculty and students of Loyola College that the association is preparing a two-plane Europe flight in the summer of 1962 at non-profit round-trip rates.

The first plane will leave from Friendship Airport on June 14, and fly directly to London. The plane will return on August 1. Since the first plane is flying at "off season" rates, the single fare for a non-profit trip on plane one is $275.00.

Second Plane

The second plane will leave on July 16 from Friendship for London and will return on August 14. The single fare for a round-trip single fare is $330.00 at "on season" rates.

Seats Available

A total of 174 seats is available in the two-plane flight. As of December 11, thirty-three seats have already been reserved by cash deposits. A total of 141 seats remain to be sold in the coming months. Therefore, during the period of February-May of 1962, Pan American Airlines must receive a sum in excess of $46,000.

Take Advantage

If possible, Loyola College students, their parents and faculty members should take advantage of this offer. Anyone interested in the offer should contact the president's office for additional information.

Spot News

Exams and Break

Semester examinations will start on Monday, January 15, and will continue until Monday, January 22. The schedules for exams are posted on the Dean's bulletin board in the Library Building. The semester break will run from January 23 to January 28. Classes will resume on January 29 (for some, that is.)

State Teachers Scholarships

Students may register in the Admissions Office to compete in the Maryland State Teacher Scholarship Examinations. Those who wish to compete must register before January 17. These scholarships pay for tuition during the student's four years in college.

Mixer Time

There will be a mixer tonight at Notre Dame of Maryland. All students are invited to attend.

After this issue there will be no more publication of the Greyhound until Friday, February 2.

Class Parties

Since Christmas all four classes have been making plans for class parties. The senior class party will be held on January 26. The sophomore class party will be held on February 9. The junior and freshman parties are scheduled for February 21 and 23 respectively.

Evaluation

According to a recent evaluation Loyola College ranked in the top 10% of 389 colleges and universities in the rate at which its graduates earned science doctorates between 1946 and 1950. Loyola's rate during these years was 8.7 science doctorates per 1000 graduates.

Music Club Obtains Tape Deck

There is a room at Loyola College where students can enjoy any type of music they may wish to here. This is the Music Club's Room. Recently the club obtained from the College a tape deck which can be attached to its sound reproduction system. With this deck the club will make tapes for advertising purposes. They will record selections in cooperation with the Green and Grey Club for publicizing campus events.

The Club now has a membership of approximately thirty-five. A dozen of these are new members.

Student Rates

The Music Club sponsored a recital by a Loyola College student, John Gardecki, earlier this year. Currently they are trying to obtain student rates for the performances of the Baltimore Civic Opera Company. Anyone interested should contact John Ryan.

Editorials

Never Seen

In the past, many students at Loyola have found occasion to quip about the appearance, or rather the disappearance, of the college quarterly. In fact, this situation had become very popular in the latter parts of last year's final semester, when student wits branded the publication with such titles as the "Neverseen Quarterly" and "France's Folly." This was an unfortunate state of affairs--but not half as unfortunate as the current situation, when nobody speaks of the "ill-fated collection" at all.

After an investigation of the current quarterly problem, we have discovered that the situation which this year's staff is facing is much the same as that which has plagued the staffs in the past. This problem is not due to any lack of efficiency or performance in the staff itself but a lack of student material for the publication.

What can be done about the current lack of support for the quarterly? Well, at present, there seem to be at least three major solutions. First, the quarterly staff editors could write all of the articles themselves, but this situation seems to defeat the purpose for which the quarterly was created--to print the stories, poems, and articles of the members of Loyola's student body. Secondly, the students could be stimulated, through current quarterly appeals, into waking up to the existing problem and supporting the drive for new writers. Finally, the Evergreen Quarterly could close its doors for good.

This last solution is hardly one which the friends of Loyola College would advocate. However, it is one which could quite possibly result from any careful consideration of the quarterly situation. To prevent the consideration of this solution, we are asking you, the student body, to offer your support to Editor France and his staff. Lets show him that the men of Loyola College are capable of competing, in literary efforts, with the other liberal arts colleges throughout the country.

P. A. G.

Editor's Note: It is a fact that the Evergreen Quarterly is not the only publication on campus that is suffering from a lack of members. At the present time, the Greyhound staff is in dire need of competent typists. If you are a typist or you know of a typist here on campus, kindly get in touch with us. Thank you.

That Time Again

The inescapable end-of-the semester problem is upon us once again--examinations. Several theories have been advanced about these biennial pearls. The bespectacled old professor views them as a reward which is bestowed on the student after long month's of study. The younger teacher, seasoned by fewer years of that ennobling profession, experts only so many reflections of his own golden gems. The idealistic rookie searches in them for profound insights which have matured as a result of the great educative process in which he has only directed the eager minds of his charges. The student--he takes them, he doesn't have to think.

Shelter
Skelter

By Charles Leight

During the year 1961 a big seller on the American market was the fallout shelter, or commonly called the home bomb shelter. The point here is this: have Americans panicked into buying inadequate and impractical security in event of a nuclear attack? It is my opinion that many have.

True, we do not want another Pearl Harbor, but how practical and effective are most of these shelters? First, it is possible to buy a shelter for less than $200 made of plywood. This does not appear to me to provide sufficient protection against fallout, much less the effects of a nuclear bomb. Secondly, the exuberant cost of a well-equipped concrete shelter is beyond the means of most. This leaves only a relatively small number of people to enjoy satisfactory protection which should be available to all. Thirdly, there is an appalling number of people who are duped into purchasing the wrong type of shelter, and paying prices they can hardly afford.

I am not trying to efface the value of these shelters, nor do I feel that our civil defense is impasse. However, it was not until December 28, 1961 that the Civil Defense Office finally issued a list of minimum requirements for shelter contractors and manufacturers who seek government approval for their designs. It seems these requirements were made too late and will not curb or eliminate the reckless spending on fallout shelters expected in 1962.

It is my opinion that a shelter plan covering the mass of the people is needed. There are many possible ways for a plan of this nature to succeed. For example, unused buildings could be converted or all federally supported buildings and schools could be required to have shelters. In the event of nuclear attack, it is probable that more lives would be saved this way than any other. I think it is time to raise our civil defense budget.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF... UNDERGROUND MISSILES ARE USED TOO?

the Watchdog

The Seniors are asking the Student Council to pass an amendment to have Andy's Lounge made the Annex to Loyola's Library.

Pat Flynn, freshman varsity Cager, was asked by one of his classmates why the basketball team calls him "Mumbles." After Pat explained, the boy didn't understand but knew the reason for the moniker.

Mr. McElroy doesn't understand or speak French, but he still managed to sell Loyola sweatshirts to the members of the French basketball team, Alsace de Bagnolet. I wonder what he told them.

Recipient of the Ordenez Award for December was Jay Henkel. But Jorge will probably garner the semester medal.

An additional part of the equipment for the wrestling team is Mennen Spray Deodorant and for the wrestling room some Mr. Clean.

Santa Claus was very good to Cadet Colonel Nelka. Gene recieved two books, "The Life Story of General Edwin Walker," and "How To Win And Influence Friends;" a year's supply of Kiwi shoe polish; an electric megaphone; a toy jeep; a subscription to "Combat Kelly" comics.

Jody Satterfield recieved a new blond toupee for Christmas.

Stan, "Boo," Kyper, the Mike Todd of Loyola, announces that he will not hold any more parties until everybody starts cheering him again.

Since Vince Baldini and Pete Genovese have been appointed to high editorial positions, they want to change the name of the school paper to the "Il Progresso."

Until recently, the two political poles in this country have been the A.D.A. and Barry Goldwater. Now we see a self styled Nazi, who should be committed for the public safety and his own good, a group in California which could easily develop into a bomb throwing element and the John Birch Society.

The Birch Society should not be confused with the insanity prevailing in the other two groups. This is where the danger lies. Men who would normally be considered good Americans and responsible citizens have formed the hard core of the society. The dedication of the members of the society is personified by the actions of General Edwin A. Walker.

The stated purpose of the society is, "...to save our country from the immediate threat of communism"... "by dynamic personal leadership." To this end they have attracted businessmen, clergymen, retired officers of the armed services and in the words of the attorney general of California, "... "little old ladies in tennis shoes."

Why has the Birch Society been denounced by equally responsible people? President Kennedy has said that it is doing more harm than good. Other responsible people have called it fascist, some have claimed that it intends to unite the more violent right wing organizations. The only telling charge is that of the President.

Much of the criticism has come because of the leader of the society, Robert Welch a retired New England candy manufacturer. Statements like, "America is a Republic not a Democracy let's keep it that way!" ; "... my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated and conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy..." have outraged many.

The threat of Communist subversion in this country cannot be underestimated as J. Edgar Hoover has said. However, the effect of pressure from this group, as it now exists, on the elected officials and government agencies combating subversion, will be chaotic. A witch hunt, and a badly conducted one at that, is not the solution to the problem we face.

The physical differences between Chinese and Japanese appear very slight to the Western eye. But if you can distinguish between the two, you have found perhaps the only flaw in the Flower Drum Song. This story of Chinese in America is played by Japanese. Originally written by C. T. Lee, this Rodgers and Hammerstein musical was first a lukewarm stage play and now a considerably better motion picture.

Chinatown in San Francisco is the setting of this Chinese Miracle play. Although 133 minutes is too short a time to give a complete exposition of all the miracles the audience sees a few of them. Notable among these are: a trip from Hong Kong to "Frisco" in a crate; the wonder working powers of the Flower Drum Song (played lovingly by Miyoski Umeki on the flower drum); and the miraculous conversion of a quadrangle of confused lovers into a contented quartet.

Nancy Kwan is captivating in all her numbers; James Siugeta is sincere as a Chinese American college student who is caught between his father's dictates and the charms of three young lovelies. Miyoski Umeki is unsurpassed and emerges as fresh and buoyant as a China doll.

The music is pleasant. The costumes and sets are superb. The choreography is tasteful and the book well done. Of special note; the titles done in water color by Doug Kingman—excellent!

Refreshing is the best word to describe this treat. A good cast under good direction combine to make a very enjoyable show.

STICKS AND STONES

With semester exams beginning next week, this is an opportune time to discuss a problem about which several students have openly expressed cheating.

The prevailing attitude among students today seems to be that anything is justified for the sake of high marks; just don't get caught. Granted, this attitude is not universal; it is, however, found among the better well as the poorer students, among not only those in constant disciplinary difficulty, but even among those whose general conduct renders them least suspect to cheating. College is a competitive business, and the need for high marks is so thoroughly ingrained in students that they feel no qualms about stooping to dishonesty to achieve them.

The effects of this cheating are far reaching. The cheaters are fully cognizant of the deleterious effects on themselves. Here, I would like to remind them of the injustice to others involved. Many teachers feel that someone has to fail; those at the bottom of the curve are the ones to go. When a cheater forces a conscientious student to the bottom, when cheating forces a hard worker out of his major or out of school entirely, a grave injustice is done. A future is ruined and it seems that honesty doesn't pay!

The futures of many students are dependent on next week's exams. I ask students and faculty alike to see that the future of deserving students is not marred by dishonesty.

Loyola Cagers Capture Tournament

Hounds' O'Donnell Named Most Valuable Hoopster

The first Loyola College Holiday Tournament was a success. The host Greyhounds not only walked off with their own winner's trophy but also claimed the tournament's Most Valuable Player in Charlie O'Donnell.

The Blue Hens of Delaware, pre-tournament favorites, relaxed a little too long in the opening game and dropped an 83-80 decision to Muhlenberg College. When down by 13 points at the half, the Mules, sparked by a tremendous personal effort by Ron Hoffman, stormed back to take the game from under the Delaware giants.

In the night-cap the touring Frenchmen of Alsace De Bagnolet put on a fantastic display of shooting before bowing to the Hounds. The crowd pleasing shots of big Bernard Mayeur and Maxime Dorigo plus the rugged rebounding of Abraham Denis brought the French to win him 5 points of the Loyola entry at the end of the first half.

Vive Loyola

The second-half sniping of Dorigo tied the score at 50 all. Loyola retaliated with a jumper by Flynn and a long one-hander by Satterfield which gave the Hounds the lead for good. With less than 4 minutes remaining Loyola held a 10 point lead and virtually coasted to an 81-69 victory.

High man for the Loyola team was Freshman center Pat Flynn whose 19 points were followed by O'Donnell, Maher and Satterfield who chipped in 13, 12 and 11 points respectively.

Hounds Cop Tourney

The next night, December 30, the Hounds won the tournament by beating Muhlenberg 73-68 as Delaware downed Alsace 87-66 for third place.

The feature tilt was nip and tuck all the way with the lead changing hands continuously throughout the second half. Jody Satterfield's foul shot put Loyola ahead to stay. M. V. P. O'Donnell followed with four more free throws to put it on ice.

Pat Flynn led Loyola scoring with 12 points. Steve Bogusky, Tony Torba and Charlie O'Donnell chipped in 11 points each. Torba was very

Bee Humble

Unspoiled by their tournament win, the Hounds continued their winning ways in the New Year with a decisive 69-57 win over rival Baltimore University on January 3.

Finally hitting his stride, Junior Steve Bogusky tossed in 8 of 13 shots from the floor and seven free throws to take game scoring honors with 23 points.

Win number four of the streak and number 5 of the season came at the expense of Washington College last Saturday afternoon. A brilliant 30 point performance by classy Rene Duvall was lost in the Shoremen's 75-68 loss to the Hounds.

Steve Bogusky's 16 points led the Loyola attack with Captain Tony Torba tossing in 12 counters. Don Wallenhorst made his presence felt by scoring 11 quick points.

Charlie O'Donnell

Hound Grapplers Down Jays, 24-9

Last Saturday night, the Hound Grapplers defeated their old nemesis Johns Hopkins for the first time since 1952. In winning the match by a score of 24-9, the Hounds took 6 of the 9 matches on the card.

Spider Baker ran into trouble in the first match, but Buck McCarthy defeated his opponent in the 130 pound class. Alex Schlipp was the next Hound to let the axe fall on Hopkins, as he won the 137 pound class. Hopkins' 147 was decisioned by Butch Emmett, and Mike Buchness clinched the 157 pound match. Tommy Milligan and Colin Delphi took the 167 and 177 pound matches. Bill LeFever and Charlie Graham were defeated in the 191 and heavy-weight classes. However, Baker and LeFever wrestled their first college matches and Graham met a heavier opponent.

I-M Bowling Tourney Won By Pete Genovese

The Holiday Bowling Tournament held on December 27, 1961, was won by Pete Genovese. Genovese, bowling with an 87 pin handicap rolled a 420 set to walk off with the honors. Another Junior, John Dugan, was the runner-up, bowling a 402 set with his handicap. The bowling tourney was well attended and the league officers are looking forward to another successful tournament in 1962.

Bill Smuck's Willie's Winners won the first round of the Bowling league and second place was captured by Bill Koch's team, Willie's Nemesis. Four new teams, the Sharks, the Hustlers, the Boozers, and the O'Henry's will be joining the Intramural Bowling league for the second round. They will be trying to overcome the stiff competition of the league mainstays.

Football Intramurals will start again after exams if favorable weather prevails. The four teams still in the running are the Foul Beagals, the Hamilton Rek, the Dukes and the 1.5's.

Intramural Director Nappy Doherty hopes to start the Basketball league after the semester break when returning basketball captains will try to get their teams in shape to meet this year's hopeful freshmen teams.

V. M. I. Tops Loyola

Last Saturday afternoon, the Hound swimmers suffered their first loss of the season at the hands of V.M.I. by a close 53-42 count. V.M.I., the powerful Southern Conference Champions, had to win the last event, the 400 yd. freestyle relay, to eke out the victory over the scrappy Hounds.

Loyola won the initial event, the medley relay, and copped 2nd in the next event, the 220yd. freestyle, to lead 10-6 after two events. V.M.I. then swept the 50 yd. freestyle to lead by 14-11. The Hounds came right back in the 200 yd. butterfly and the diving to take a precarious 28-24 lead. The Keydets, however, took 1st and 3rd places in the next three events to lead by a 46-42 margin, setting the stage for the climatic final relay.

Ken Freimuth led the Hounds in scoring with 11.75 points, followed by Tippy Cronin with 6.75, Marty Pilch with 6.00 and Vic Corbin with 5.00.

Even in the losing effort Loyola was impressive. V.M.I., a perennial power in the strong Southern Conference, had to go all out to down the Hounds by a narrow margin.

Loyola's next home meet will be on Fri., Jan. 26, at 3 P.M. against the University of Akron.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

The Invitational Basketball Tournament was a success. First and foremost, the Hound cagers played some wonderful basketball in winning both of their games and the Tourney itself.

Secondly, the Hounds' Charley O'Donnell was chosen, and very deservedly so, as the most valuable player in the event.

The visiting teams in the Tourney commented that they had never been so well treated by a host team as they were at Evergreen. This fine treatment was largely the result of the generous effort put forth by the Alumni Block "L" Club whose members gave most freely of their time and energy.

Special thanks go to, of course the ever present Lefty Reitz, and also to Vince Collimore (official interpreter), Bill Klarner and Bill McElroy who kept the visiting Frenchmen well entertained.

The college received a good deal of publicity from the Tournament on both the local and national levels. In fact, "Mac" sold Loyola T-shirts to the French cagers and the Alsace coach vowed that his players will wear them wherever they travel on their U.S. tour.

Whether another Tourney will be held next year is still being considered. In view of this year's success, we hope that the College will give the question serious consideration.

Rifle Team Posts 3-1 Dual Record

The Loyola College Rifle Team travels to the University of Delaware today for its first dual match since the beginning of December. As of now, the squads dual match record stands at a very creditable 3 wins and 1 loss. Their postal match log has fallen to two wins as against three losses. The latest efforts of the team had them losing to Northeastern University by 1418-1348 and to Saint Bonaventure's by a 1367-1348 count.

The team is now in the process of firing in the Second Army Rifle Match this week. Their scores will be mailed to the appropriate officials after their scheduled firing rounds are completed.
